

ZMATH 1991c.01442

Sierpńska, A. (Polska Akademia Nauk, Warsaw); Viwegier, M. (Warsaw Univ. (Poland))

How and when attitudes towards mathematics and infinity become constituted into obstacles in students. Wie und wann führen Einstellungen zu Mathematik und zum Unendlichen zu Lernhindernissen bei Schuelern.

Thirteenth international conference of the International Group on Psychology of Mathematics Education. Vol. 3. Proceedings. 13. internationale Tagung der Gruppe fuer Psychologie und Mathematikunterricht. Bd. 3. Proceedings. International Group for the Psychology of Mathematics Education; Paris-5 Univ., 75 (France). Lab. de Psychologie du Developpement et de l'Education de l'Enfant 1989. p. 166-173 of 288 p. Available from Paris-5 Univ., 75 (France). Lab. de Psychologie du Developpement et de l'Education de l'Enfant. Conference: 13. Annual Conference of the International Group for the Psychology of Mathematics Education (PME), Paris (France), 9-13 Jul 1989

Classification: E63

Keywords: Meetings; Student Attitudes; Infinity; Limits; Learning Problems; Cognitive Development; Lower Secondary; Empirical Investigations; Sets; Concept Formation; ; Tagung; Schuelereinstellung; Unendlich; Grenzwert; Lernschwierigkeit; Kognitive Entwicklung; Sekundarstufe 1; Empirische Untersuchung; Menge; Begriffsbildung