

ZMATH 2004b.01226

Pezdek, Kathy

Teaching Psychology in the Context of a University-Community Partnership.

Teach. Psychol. 29, No. 2, 157-59 (2002).

Describes the content of an undergraduate course called "Field Work in Applied Psychology: Teaching Mathematics." Assigns students to gain field work experience by teaching fourth-, fifth-, or sixth-grade students mathematics. Reviews the goals for the teacher, college students, and elementary schools. (ERIC)

Classification: D42

Keywords: college school cooperation; course content; field studies; service learning