Gay, A. Susan

Is Problem Solving in Middle School Mathematics "Normal"?

Surveyed seventh and eighth graders to determine whether middle school students view problem solving as a normal part of their mathematics classroom activity. Gleaned student attitudes toward problem solving and their beliefs about their ability to solve problems. Findings pose implications for mathematics instruction. (ERIC)

Classification: C73