

ZMATH 1994f.02783

Greenberg, Richard

Scanning the Images of Science.

Sci. Teach. 59, No. 8, 14-18 (1992).

The Image Processing Technology Project explores the possibility of using digital image processing in mathematics and science education. Describes the origin of the project and reports the results of a 4-week teacher workshop that trained over 80 teachers in the techniques and technology of image processing. (ERIC)

Classification: R49