

ZMATH 2013b.00821

Davis, Marsha; Vest, Floyd

Daylight in the northern hemisphere.

Consortium, No. 102, 12 p., pull-out section (2012).

Summary: The focus of this pull-out is using sinusoidal models to estimate the length of daylight and the sun's declination and altitude over time in various locations in the northern hemisphere.

Classification: M50 G60 I20

Keywords: trigonometric functions; astronomy; earth sciences; mathematical applications