

ZMATH 2013c.00815

Sedláčková, Blanka

Andrei Andreyevich Markov and mathematical linguistics. (Andrej Andrejevič Markov a matematická lingvistika.)

Učitel Mat. 19, No. 1, 37-43 (2010).

Summary: The author describes the life of an important Russian mathematician Andrei Andreyevich Markov who dealt with the theory of probability, theory of numbers and mathematical analysis. In addition to these disciplines, Markov was concerned also with mathematical linguistics, which is the central theme of this series of articles. In this part we can find Markov's brief biography, achievements in the field of mathematics, linguistics as well as didactics of mathematics.

Classification: M80 A30

Keywords: Markov; mathematical linguistics; biography