Nowadays in education, more attention is given to pupils with special needs: learning disabilities (that makes it difficult to learn), but also high intelligence (so that they lack motivation). This article, written for mathematics teachers, explains what difficulties pupils with dyslexia, dyscalculia, ... have in the mathematics course. The authors also try to suggest some ways of helping these pupils.

Classification: C90

Keywords: dyslexia