Start with what the student knows or with what the student can imagine?

Argues that learning should begin with a student's imagination rather than starting with what he or she already knows. Does not suggest abandoning a student's prior knowledge, however. (PKP)

Classification: C33
Keywords: imagination