Reflections on the Austrian DERIVE project based on an investigation by the Centre of School Development.

Int. Derive J. 3, No. 1, 97-106 (1996).

This paper is a summary of two reports published for the Austrian Ministry of Education by the Centre of School Development in Graz. The reports were quite extensive and we pick out only a number of their most important themes. Full details relating to the student and teacher questionnaires together with appropriate statistical analysis may be found in the original German texts. (orig.)
