

ZMATH 1995e.02755

Farivar, Sydney; Webb, Noreen M.

Helping and Getting Help—Essential Skills for Effective Group Problem Solving.

Arith. Teach. 41, No. 9, 521-25 (1994).

Outlines steps necessary for students to learn how to use one another as resources for doing mathematics, including preparation for group work, fine tuning communication and cooperation skills, and developing helping skills. Includes a "good helper" and "good help receiver" checklist. (ERIC)

Classification: C53